RATTAN WEBBING

specialize in a diverse range of high-quality rattan webbing and related products

RATTAN WEBBING

High Quality Rattan

Our rattan webbing is sourced from sustainably managed forests in Indonesia, the world's leading producer of high-quality rattan.

We specialize in Natural Rattan Tohiti (Calamus inops Becc.), a premium variety known for its strength, flexibility, and durability. The vines are carefully harvested by skilled farmers, ensuring minimal environmental impact while supporting local communities.

RATTAN WEBBING

PRODUCTION

The production of rattan webbing involves a combination of traditional craftsmanship and precise techniques. Skilled artisans carefully split and process Natural Rattan Tohiti (Calamus inops Becc.) into fine strips before weaving them into durable and flexible patterns. Each step, from raw material preparation to weaving, is done with attention to detail to ensure consistent quality. This process not only highlights Indonesia's long heritage in rattan craftsmanship but also supports sustainable production that meets global export standards
